That Bridge Accident.

Bo'ert Donovan, who fell from the I ridge yesterday, is a resident of this city living at Eleventh and Madison. He was brought over from the other side last evening, and two skillful surgeons were called. His internal injuries are feared to be severe, while otherwise he is not at all in a dangerous condition, his head being cut by the plank hitting him. He fell a distance of sixty-five feet, and must have been killed instantly, but that his fall was broken by striking on a plank, which tipped and let him down more easily. His condition this morning gives hopes of an early convalescence.

Co-operative Sewing Society.

Some fifteen or more of the African emales of the city have for some time had in working order a co-operative sewing society, with a president, secretary, &c. Rooms were taken on the south side of Walnut street, between West and Eleventh, where the secretary, acting as clerk, was constantly in attendance to take in orders for sewing, and deliver the work when done, as well as to sell that which was made up for a market. The members of the society called at the "shop," and taking the work called at the "shop, work called at the "shop work called at the "s called at the "shop," and taking the work with them, executed it at home, and when sold, or paid for, received their pro-rata of the proceeds; but it seems they did not do but they failed to pay the secretary her salary. This being the case, Nelly Rob- give sin erts, the secretary aforesaid, sued out an attachment before Justice Waller. The stock, in trade, was taken by the constable, and will probably be sold to satisfy Nelly's claim of thirty-six dollars.

Coal Supply.

From the Cheinnati Commercial. A coal dealer estimates the stock on and here at upward of two million hush The estimate is based upon careful inquiry among denlers, and is believed to be very liberal. He also estimates the ansumption in the city and within a radins of lifteen miles, at eighty thousand bushels per day, including ship-ments by rail, canal and river, and thinks it will exceed that figure rather than fall below it. If he is correct in his figures, the supply would not hold out for a longer period than thirty days. We are of the opinion, however, that the dealer is mistaken as to the rate of consumption. Were there no coal in private hands. it is very likely his estimate would not be out of the way. But allowing a winter's provision for every tenth housein the city here cannot be less than one million five hundred thousand bushels stored for use In round figures it would o to say that there are four millions of ushels in the city now.

Blanton Dunean, under instructions from the Attorney General of the United States, District Attorney B. H. Bristow yesterday Weath- entered on the minutes of the court that the United States abandons all claims to the estate: and to-day R. M. Mosby, Esq., assignee of Duneau, applied to the court to have the property delivered to him as assignee. This motion is now under advisement. The United States had seized all his estate, realty and personalty, under the act of confiscation, for his connection charged 93 bales of hemp, 150 barrels of with the Confederate cause: and while in lour, 225 half coils of rope, and a lot of the hands of the authorities the income from rents, &c., to the amount of about fifteen thousand dollars had accumulated. An effort will be made at the coming ession of the Legislature to hring up again, and, if possible, pass, the Conventional Interest Bill. That it ought to be passed, no financier will hesitate one. instant in affirming. The idea that it will operate against any part of the State to the especial benefit of Louisville, is the merest twaildle. It will no doubt bring to the trade centers of the State, of which Louisville is, of course, the chief, the capital which now lies idle in farmers' hands, or has been sent away to other States for investment. When other States legalize a higher rate than six per cent. eapital is bound to leave Kentucky for investment. It is as much a law as that water will flow down hill. A case in point came under our observation this morning. A lady applied to one of the best finaneiers of the city of Louisville for his advice and assistance. She wants to invest five thousand dollars, so that it will yield her ten per ecut. She did not wish to send it out of the State, if such an investment could be made in Kentacky-in the pur chase of bonds or otherwise; if not, she would send the money to Chicago, where it could be invested at once at the desired rate. And this is only one instance out of thousands. Money goes out of the State every day and stays out. When will Kentucky learn to keep her wealth at home?

A Dangerous Character Officers Fritsch and Gilchriest had their suspicions aroused by the mysterious wayof one John Newton, and, accordingly for some days past, have kept that gentheman under closeespionage. After considerable watching, the officers came to the conclusion that what they had som of Newton warranted his arrest, and finefaevening, at three p'clock, Newton was freight. cogitating (probably "o'er the chances of the night") in the sitting room of the Sparrier Hense, on Sixth street, between Main and Market. A Country Chap Victimized. Edward Burke hails from Cementville, n the State of Indiana. Last Tuesday morning Burke visited the house of Molly Ryan. He was in the parlor when Mollie stepped in and asked him if he had "any wealth about him." Not waiting for ar answer, she proceeded to examine the pockets of Burke. He hastily drew out a ten dollar bill, fearing she would take i from his pocket. This did not save the 'ten," for Mollie grabbed it from his hand and started off, telling Barke if he wanted it, to follow her to her room. At first he refused to do this, but finally he went up to the room, when the Ryan ordered him to go down and get out of the house

As the only way to recover his money he secured the services of a policeman, and had the woman arrested. On a hearing of the ease, the Judge ordered the witness to be recognized to go before the grand jury and held Mollie in three hundred dollars bond to answer. Cementville will probably contain a tenfold sadder, if not wiser inhabitant in the future.

Ordinance Warrants. Thursday always brings with it an increased amount of business in the City Court, this day having been set apart for the ordinance docket. Warrants against the following parties were served, and their eases were heard this this morning:

He suggests that the ships occupied during the summer cod-fishing should in other seasons be employed in conveying these weeds to the Azores, where they can be pressed and dried, and, after having valuable salts extracted from them, they could be carried to the French coast.
